THE OFF YEAR.

An Oakland paper has noticed that the first time in several years the Republicans have not only held their own, but made gains in what has been termed the "off year," that is, the general election year preceding the Presidential election. Three Northern States have thus far held elections this year and in each case the Republicans have made large gains. First came Oregon, more than doubling its Republican majority, gaining a member of Congress and a United States Senator. Then came Vermont, carrying everything, as usual, and though the vote was light, the majority was increased in comparison to the vote polled. In Maine, where the Democrats, by a fusion with the Greenbackers, had great hopes of carrying the State, the Republicans gain two Congressmen and have the Legislature by two-thirds majority, with a gain in the popular vote of seven or eight thousand. This appears to be an "off year" with the Democrats instead of the Republicans. In the Southern States, so far as elections have been held, there have also been great Republican gains. The Carson Appeal adds that it is certainly an encouraging outlook for the Republican party, and should instill into the party, in this State, courage and enthusiasm to work diligently and unceasingly for a grand victory over the party of retrogression, bad ideas and barbarism. With a thorough canvass and unceasing work there can be no doubt of the result of the present contest.

ELKO REPUBLICANS.

The Elko Republican Convention nominated J. H. Taber, for Sheriff; L. S. Parsons for Recorder; W. W. Rogers for Clerk; James Clark for Treasurer; Thomas Holmes for Assessor; G. E. Talbot for District Attorney; C. B. Wiseman for Superintendent of Schools; O. A. Gooding for Public Administrator; J. T. Babcock and A. Bruce for Commissioners; L. I. Hogle for Senator; and T. N. Stone, W. H. Root and E. P. Hamill for Assemblymen.

The resolutions favor the unconditional repeal of the Salary Act, and a reduction of 20 per cent. of the fees allowed under existing laws. They also suggest that the next Legislature memorialize Congress to pass an act granting to all persons who will sink artesian wells and obtain flowing water, upon lands that can not be otherwise irrigated, one section of land.

The Republican County Convention must look well to its work. Its aim should be to nominate the strongest and JOHN M. DORMER.

A Sketch of the Life of the Republican Nominee for Secretary of State.

When the Republican State Convention met in Reno it was the expressed determination of the assembled delegates to nominate only good men for the various offices within the gift of the people, and that this determination was strictly adhered to is made manifest by the excellent ticket which was put forth. I will not at this time attempt to descant upon the good qualities of all the candidates selected by that convention, but will confine my remarks to the consideration of the merits of the popular gentleman who has been named for the responsible and honorable office of Secretary of State. I approach this subject with a feeling of pleasure, and with all the pride that one may justly entertain in hailing the advancement of a friend.

JOHN M. DORMER, Or "Johnny" Dormer, as he is familiarly known among his friends, is a man who brings into public life all the sterling attributes that characterize a good citizen, and that will mark his career as an officer. In his dealings with the world he has ever maintained that "up and up" style of conduct which so well befits him, and which, joined with a firm yet gentlemanly manner, has won for him the respect and friendship of all with whom he has come in contact.

A BRIEF REVIEW OF HIS LIFE.

Mr. Dormer was born in St. Louis Mo., in 1843, and is therefore now 39 years of age, a time in life when a man's faculties are judged to be most perfectly balanced—being neither swayed by the exuberance of youth, nor clogged by the conservatism of old age. When only a few months old, Mr. Dormer's parents emigrated to Wisconsin, and subsequently joined the flood of immigrants to the Pacific coast, reaching California in 1850, and settling in Downieville, Sierra county, whence have come so many of the noted men who have since made their marks in the public affairs of California and Nevada. In Downieville was spent the most of Mr. Dormer's youth, the remainder of the time being devoted to schools at Marysville, Santa Clara and Oakland. When of proper age he became an apprentice in the printing office of the Sierra Democrat, of which W. J. Forbes was editor and proprietor. Mr. Forbes was subsequently known in this State as the brilliant editor of the Virginia Press and the Battle Mountain Measure for Measure. When in 1860 the Piute war broke out the youthful printer was among the first to volunteer, and going at once to the front experienced all the hardships attendant upon a campaign between the frontiersmen and the redskins. This service ended he returned to Downieville, where for a time he followed mining, the chief industry of the community in which he lived. In 1864, the year in which he achieved his majority, he began the publication of the Sierra Advocate, which he conducted for two years. At the end of that time he went to San Francisco and became a morning newspaper printer. At the time of the famous printers' strike in that city, being

A UNION PRINTER.

"He walked out" with the other union printers, and not choosing to work for the reduced scale of wages afterwards accorded to by the Printers' Union, entered into a co-partnership with two fellow-workmen who had "walked out" with him, and started a paper in Oakland called the Daily Termini. Selling his interest on this paper he went to Oregon in the employ of Ben Holiday, who then staged and railway king. At the close of Mr. Holiday's brilliant career Mr. Dormer obtained employment as a printer in Walla Walla, Washington Territory, and thence removed to Lewiston, Idaho, where he published the Signal newspaper, of which he and Judge W. Curt Whitson were the owners. Closing his labors there Mr. Dormer went to Portland, Oregon, where he held a position on the editorial staff of the Oregonian, the oldest and acknowledged leading journal of the Webfoot State. Leaving that humid clime Mr. Dormer was for a time employed as a journeyman printer on the Virginia Enterprise, but went to Bodie at the outbreak of the excitement at that place. In Bodie he became editor and manager of the Standard as well as of the Aurora Herald, in Esmeralda county, this State, both papers being owned by Mr. Frank Kenyon. Mr. Kenyon died and the papers were disposed of by Mr. Dormer for the benefit of the estate. He then, in company with E. R. Cleveland and Harry Fonticello, founded the Bodie Free Press, but subsequently disposed of his interest to H. Z. Osborne, and going to Camelsburg, Esmeralda county, established the True Picture newspaper, of which he is now the editor and proprietor.

IN POLITICS.

Mr. Dormer has never before appeared in a prominent way, asking anything for himself. He has, however, served one term as Superintendent of the Public Schools of Esmeralda county, and was a candidate for Assemblyman on the Republican ticket two years ago, but shared the defeat which, at the time, overwhelmed the entire Republican party of this State. It may be seen by this that he cannot be set down as a pronounced politician or a chronic office-seeker. He has, it is true, at all times exercised the right of an American citizen—of voting for his friends, and of endeavoring in all honorable ways to secure the success of his party, but in all his political discussions, public or private, upon the rostrum or in the sanctuary, he has steered clear of those offensive personalities that have in times past marred the campaigns of the Pacific coast and more particularly of Nevada. Mr. Dormer has all of the Jefferson seeks. He is capable, honest and discreet. No greater praise can be uttered of any man. Yet even his enemies can say no less; "that in a friend it is cold modesty." This is the man, voters of Nevada, who offers to you his services as Secretary of State for the ensuing term. That he is in every way worthy of your suffrage is certain, and that he will be elected on the 7th of next November is beyond peradventure.

SAGEBRUSH,
Virginia, Sept. 16, 1893.

TRY IT AGAIN!

The Eureka Leader says "the conclusive trial of the Star route conspirators is not adapted to lessen public confidence in Washington juries and the infallibility of States evidences. A trial of three months' duration, attended with an expense to the Government of more than a hundred thousand dollars, is so far inconclusive that the foreman of the jury and the colored juror Brown cast their vote for the conviction of Miner and Rerdell, two of the subordinate conspirators, but could not pass any decided opinion on the guilt of the ringleaders of the conspiracy. The Attorney General, not being any more satisfied with the failure to bring the prominent offenders to justice have, for valid reasons, issued orders for the speedy trial of Brady, the two Dorseys and Vaile. Although the second trial may be as protracted and expensive as was the former one, yet if by that means the Government can succeed in arresting the progress of plundering the Public Treasury by the several stupendous frauds, whose perpetrators, intrenched in a strong position, have hitherto defied justice, it will be a wise expenditure of money. So long as the principals in ring frauds are allowed to break through the meshes of the law, and petty swindlers alone are held bound by its provisions there will be no cessation to public corruption and official speculation."

Ormsby Republicans.

The Ormsby Republicans last Saturday nominated the following strong ticket.

For State Senator, H. G. Parker; Assemblymen, Alfred Helm, Frank Boskowitz and D. H. Brown; Sheriff, S. T. Swift; Treasurer, James Fraser; County Clerk, M. D. Hatch, Recorder, Chas. Martin; Assessor, J. D. Kersey; District Attorney, J. D. Torreyson; County Superintendent of Schools, H. H. Howe; Commissioners, C. C. Atherton (long term), J. H. Martin (short term); Justice of the Peace, Wm. M. Cary; Constable, R. R. Crawford; School Trustees—D. A. Bender (long term), George R. Davis (short term).

The office of Public Administrator was left to be filled by the Central Committee. There was no opposition only for Recorder, Turner receiving 10 votes and Martin 11.

PERSONALS.

C. H. Stoddard left for the southern country on yesterday morning's train.

Theodore Winters passed through town yesterday morning, prospectively for his valley ranch.

Wm. E. Price, of Ophir, remained over night before last at the Lake House and left for home yesterday morning.

Miss L. and S. Germain, of Winnemucca, will return this week to Mount St. Mary's Academy for the ensuing term.

E. Wright and J. H. Hickox, of Yorkville, Illinois, with E. Twiddle, of Franktown, are registered at the Polard House.

T. W. Mellard and M. Raphael, of England; Charles Cummings, Virginia; T. G. Herman, Wadsworth, and L. Radovich, of Eureka, are stopping at the Depot Hotel.

After his long siege of illness, Charley Becker is at last slowly improving. He has had a pretty tough time of it, and his friends hope he may henceforward steadily improve. Yesterday was the first day he was seen on the streets for a week past.

Tom Barnett went below a couple of nights ago for a grand stock of goods, and if Thomas does not eclipse the town on his return it will not be his fault. Look out for fine styles, low prices and an "everywhere Tom" when that gentleman gets back.

Isn't this the Sober Truth.

Now that warm weather has set in again, after all the futile endeavors to find the bodies of the drowned Larcombes, it is suggested by many Renos, whose drinking water mainly comes from the Truckee river, whether the county ought not now take a hand in recovering the bodies and giving them a decent burial. The poorest nondescript tramp in the country would be hunted up and buried, so long as he had the fortune or misfortune to die above solid ground. But when a taxpayer and a citizen in trying to improve his land within the county, has the misfortune happen to him of being drowned with his son in the Truckee river, what apathy of public opinion is it, that allows his remains to lie in the stream for three weeks and over, without the authorities at least making an endeavor to recover them.

The Wonderful Comet.

Yesterday morning at the unseemly hour of half-past four or five o'clock the whole feminine town of Reno was shocked to the very soles of its boots by seeing a procession of men walking up and down the streets with their eyes uplifted towards the just rising sun, and every now and then turning towards each other and inquiring "Well, pard, what do you think of it?" The question proved so difficult to solve that before nine o'clock of the morning six different schools of astronomers, aided by their better astronomical halves, had disputed, and arranged to meet at some future day in Reno to settle the momentous question finally as to "what constitutes the nucleus and what the tail of a comet—is one solid and the other gaseous?" The names of the astronomical college will be given to-morrow. Gentlemen and ladies are about equally divided on the question.

For State Senator

H. L. Fish, whom nearly every one in the county knows, announces himself as a candidate for State Senator. He has occupied very important positions under the county, and never failed to give the greatest satisfaction in every one of them. At present he is a responsible employee in the Reno National Bank. All these circumstances portray the man, and he will undoubtedly make a thorough run and prove a most efficient officer if elected.

The Temperance Union Hall.

The new building of the Women's Temperance Union, to replace that lately destroyed by the fire, will shortly be in complete trim, and a credit, as heretofore, to Reno. The new structure will be a larger and more commodious one, besides being lighter and better fitted up in every respect. The very fact of the Temperance Union being the first to rebuild their premises shows volumes for the power and stability of the association. Long success to it.

Tight Committee.

P. Tighe, who lately made a felonious assault upon Dan O'Keefe, appeared before Justice Young yesterday afternoon and waived an examination. He was held to appear before the Grand Jury in the sum of $1,000 bail, which was furnished by Henry Orr, Pat Mallor and D. C. Campbell.

Look Out for Fires.

Last Sunday evening, between eight and ten o'clock, such a strong smell of burning cotton or wool titillated the fire alarm faculties in the noses of citizens who were passing into Virginia street from Mercantile Row, that the noses, in nasal tones, alarmed the public, and a search was instituted throughout the two squares. Though the stench of the burning material was at times quite strong and threatened to lead to serious consequences, still the spectacle of a score or two of our most distinguished citizens parading the streets, with noses high in air, snuffing and sniffing in the evening breeze, was, as the seminary girls say, "too funny for anything." After the alarm had spread through the town the scent died away, and the uplifted noses assumed their ordinary angle. It would be well, though, to exercise a little caution against fire at the present time. Not long ago a Chinaman's carelessness caused the burning of a row of buildings and threatened destruction to a greater portion of the town. The assertion has been made since then by many that the buildings burnt were a good riddance to bad rubbish. The neighbors of the burnt district, upon being interviewed after the fire, acknowledged that it had been a standing invitation to the fire fiend for many years, yet others whose property had been of a character to ornament Reno had also been swallowed up in flames on account of their unfortunate proximity to rubbishy buildings, that should have been torn down or ordered rebuilt by the authorities long ago.

THE PEOPLE'S SENTIMENT.

Not only is the united voice of the public that the Chinese wash-houses should be restricted to a separate locality, as Chinatown has hitherto been, but that a better eye to the general welfare of the community should be exhibited by the community itself. Numerous interviews by a JOURNAL representative with property holders of high and low degree showed that there was another danger constantly menacing business men of Reno.

NON RESIDENT LANDLORDS.

And miserably neglectful ones, are the second source of danger. Living away from here, in San Francisco, in ninety-five per cent of instances, they neglect repairs to their edifices and let them become mere fire-traps, all the while asking the highest rents and squeezing out the greatest amount of insurance, even at high rates; for they know the rattle-traps will surely go in a short course of time. Sidewalks are neglected, roofs are left ruinously leaky, all the premises are a disgrace not only to the town but depreciative to every building in the block; and finally a Chinaman steps in to take them as wash-houses, or they are used for other utterly irresponsible purposes. The fire comes; burns up the wretched shanties; the owners, luxuriating in San Francisco, collect their insurance money, which, with the rent they have collected for years, represents a thousand per cent profit; and while poor, industrious owners of buildings, burnt out and ruined, are compelled to suffer with their families for the necessities of life, these schemers build again to repeat the role. Reno should

SOBERLY TAKE LESSON

By these frequent catastrophes, born of tempest and fire, which have destroyed some of the fairest portions of town and made wandering beggars of many who would have proved most desirable citizens. It will surely come again, and in the present dry condition of wooden buildings Reno would be a most glorious holocaust offered up as of yore, again and again, on the shrine of cupidity and both official, personal and municipal neglect.

A splendid improved Howard (the International) solid platinum movement, 33 holes, ruby jeweled, with exposed pallets, stem-winding, improved stem-winder, crystal capped and adjusted movement, really worth $160, price $87, at Uncle Harris', 221 Kearney St., below Bush and Sutter.

Offensive.

Last Sunday evening, in the beautiful moonlight, a sweet couple loitered home from a Reno church, and reaching home, naturally found their co-relative places on each side of the lovingly convenient fence. Gazing into her countenance, lit up by the fervid rays of the translucent moon, he murmured into her auricle as she was swinging to and fro:

"Be careful, my darling, and do not bang the gate, or else there will be a convulsion in at least one confiding Reno nature, owing to your over-fervid papa."

With a look of supreme scorn the Reno maiden withdrew by a mighty effort her two by twenties from between the cruel gate pickets, and with a there's-no-ice-cream-in-town look, she hissed out:

"If you don't like bangs because they are offensive to you, stay away from both girls and fence-gates."

About as few idle men can be seen in Austin as are to be found in any

The N. &amp; O. Railroad Picnic.

Last Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock, the excursion train on the N. & O. R. left the depot with flying colors. The colors were not exactly in the shape of flags, but to masculine eyes they were the most glorious banners in existence, consisting of about a hundred ladies stored away on the cars and bound for the front. The road is now completed as far as the Antelope Ranch and Chat Roberts', and a trip over the road is one of the nicest excursion trips to be taken in the vicinity of Reno, where novelty is desired. The numerous trestles, as they were crossed, created a continuous chorus of "Oh, my gracious! U-r-r-rh!" that threatened to tear the structure down, if the conductor had not intervened and requested the girls to alternate their u-r-r-rhs so as not to give continuous vibration to the trestle frames. Except the nervousness of the young and old ladies in crossing the high trestles, the trip was a panorama of delight. The odd-looking places rushed by were all unique in their character, and, though not equal to Yosemite, the trip will long be remembered by the excursionists. The long stretch through the overlying foothills and past the desert plains, above them towards Plumas, finally led the train into the timbered region and Long Valley, where the excursionists came to a halt and lots of fun was had in games and innocent amusements, such as eating turkey and drinking water. The train returned after a few hours of picnic delay with all the picnicers safe and happy.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly For October.

The great excellence and the remarkable cheapness of this periodical have secured for it deservedly, an immense circulation. The present number is exceedingly interesting, entertaining, and full of general information. "England's Only Living General" (Sir Garnet Wolseley), by Alfred H. Guernsey, is an admirable and timely article. It has seventeen illustrations. Among other notable, profusely illustrated articles are: "A visit to Phosphate Fields and Hiss"; "A Visit to Palermo"; "The Last Kink of Tahiti"; "The Mariner's Compass," by William Durham, etc., etc. A new serial by M. T. Caldwell, "A White Sepulchre," promises to be deeply interesting; "The Letter 'S', or, The Jocelyn Sin," is concluded; and there are short stories, sketches, etc., by S. A. Weiss, A. E. Barr, Margaret F. Aymar, etc.; poems by popular writers, and a miscellany embracing a large variety of subjects, affording very delightful and instructive reading. The embellishments are even more than usually numerous, and are meritorious works of art. The colored title-page "The Sultana and her Attendant," is very beautiful. The price of a single number is 25 cents; yearly subscription, $3 post paid. Address Frank Leslie, Publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

An Indian Hooraws Nest.

Last Sunday night about 11 o'clock, the eastern section of Plaza street was startled by the disjointed cries of mal-tha! mal-tha! The majority of people who were on the street at that hour imagined that a youthful member of the Tee-totalers club had lost his mother and was crying aloud for her. An investigation by a couple of night watchmen of the C. P. R. Co., disclosed a couple of stalwart bucks attempting to dissect the skull of a youthful Washoe Daniel, who had strayed into their lions den with a little too much money in his pocket. They tackled him near the railroad bridge and would have murdered him perhaps, but for interference. He has been employed on the ranch of a Mr. Newman, so he claimed to a JOURNAL reporter, who responded to his cries just as the bucks who attacked him disappeared behind the nearest wood pile. The poor devil received a cut over the left eye and was bleeding profusely, yet notwithstanding his suffering he persisted in mounting his horse and riding off to his employers ranch. It is likely he will be more chary of his fellow Indians for some time to come.

Splendid Fruit.

The splendid yield of the orchard of the Lake House during the past Summer, up to the present season, shows how conclusively fallacious the claim is, as advanced by some, that no fruit can be profitably raised in Reno. Frosts have too often ravaged the valley, but the fact has always remained apparent that with a little care an average crop can be raised. Pluck and perseverance are as necessary to raise apples, pears and peaches, as to succeed in business enterprises, and the possession of the one means the other.

A Champion Lunch.

George Becker desires to inform the public and his patrons, now that Fair time is approaching that he will set up a fine hot lunch from 11 A. M. to 3 P. M., and he invites his customers and the outside public to call around and sample.

If the Republicans act wisely they will nominate such men as will guar-

"Hazel Kirke."

The Virginia Enterprise of Sunday has the following to say in regard to this excellent play:

This charming play, which was produced in this city something over a year ago, will be presented again by the Madison Square Theatre Company at Piper's Opera House to-morrow (Monday) evening for one time only. This play has achieved a national reputation, and up to date has been played over 1,750 consecutive times. It bids fair to hold the stage for years to come. The people do not seem to tire of it. Its construction, from a dramatic standpoint, is almost faultless, and played as it is by one of the very best and most talented companies in the country, its great success everywhere is hardly to be wondered at. The humor of the play, its pathos and cardinal virtues have won for it the honest appreciation of all who have witnessed its representation and pushed on its glorious career. The performance to-morrow evening will be a great treat to our people, and we doubt not but the house will be packed, as it fully deserves to be. All the original company, including Miss Effie Ellsler (Hazel), C. W. Couldeek (Dunstan), O. W. Bowser (Pittacus), Frank Weston (Squire) and others, will appear. The company will arrive to-morrow morning direct from San Francisco, where they have just closed an unusually successful three weeks' season at the Baldwin Theatre.

A Gentlemanly Declination.

Though Mr. Berry is one of the strongest men the Democracy of the State or of Washoe could nominate from their ranks, his health and business requirements have compelled him to hand the following to the JOURNAL for publication which speaks for itself:

TO THE CHAIRMAN OF THE DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL COMMITTEE—DEAR SIR:—The Democratic County Convention thought it wise to place me on the ticket as a candidate to represent this county in the State Senate. While I feel very grateful to the Convention for the high honor conferred upon me, I find it impossible to accept the trust. My business is of such a nature that it requires all my attention, and I do not feel able to spare the time it would require to make my canvass and to devote to so important an office. Therefore I most respectfully decline, and in doing so ask that you appoint some one to take my place on the ticket, and will suggest the name of A. A. Longley, recognizing in him a gentleman of ability and the strictest integrity, and knowing the State's interest would be carefully guarded by him.

Yours very respectfully,
W. F. BERRY.

Reno, Sept. 25, 1882.

Card of Thanks.

The Sisters of Mount St. Mary's Academy, together with the young lady boarders and about fifty of the day pupils, enjoyed a most delightful excursion on the line of the Nevada and Oregon Railroad last Saturday, for which they desire to return most sincere thanks to Messrs. Balch, King, Berry and Sullivan for their extreme kindness and courtesy. It was a most enjoyable treat, and the recipients of the kindness will ever remember the generosity of the donors.

MOTHER DOLORES.

Modern Nelsons.

Messrs. Hall and Painter are (H)all-ways to the front and bound to be ever on the lookout for good bargains where-with to benefit the people of Reno. They have purchased the Washburn orchard, Honey Lake, and will before long make the whole of Washoe Valley a perfect lake, floating a sea of the fine Honey Lake apples, with Messrs. Hall and Painter as old war captains to man the helm, like old Nelsons. Give them a call.

Susanville Nearly Destroyed.

About two o'clock last Saturday morning a fire was discovered in the rear of Blum & Alexander's store, which soon spread, destroying the buildings of two entire blocks of the business portion of the town, including the whole of Chinatown. The probable loss is over $150,000, with less than $50,000 insurance.

Advertising Medium.

The advertising columns of the JOURNAL afford an excellent opportunity to our readers to study out where purchases of all kinds can be made on the most advantageous terms. All classes of goods can there be found advertised from a suit of clothes or nice silk dress to the daintiest ornament in the jewelry line. The JOURNAL reaches nearly every family as well as business house in the county, and, therefore, advertisers seek its columns that the public may know what they have for sale.
